

TOR Napa Valley Hudson Vineyard Cuvee Molly 2006 _____94
Offers great aromas, with white peach, floral, jasmine, pear and melon notes. Turns elegant and refined on the palate.

Tor Kenward spent 27 years as a senior executive with Beringer Vineyards before striking out with his own label. While at Beringer, he made wine as a hobby, producing at least one barrel of wine each vintage with the encouragement of winemaking mentors Ed Sbragia and Bob Steinhauer. Retiring from Beringer in 2001, Kenward launched his own label, purchasing Cabernet grapes from To Kalon and Chardonnay from the Hudson Vineyards. Kenward says past experience taught him to be patient and to take advantage of vineyard opportunities when they arise. But he admits he's on a constant learning curve. "I think (the challenges) might be one of the reasons we all get into the wine business—it's full of surprises," he says.
